Objective

The Fund's objective is to achieve a total return greater than that of the NSCI (XIC) over the long term by investing in a diversified portfolio of small UK quoted companies.

Investment style: Value

Aberforth are value investors who buy shares in companies that they calculate to be selling below their intrinsic value. This is determined through detailed financial and industrial analysis, combined with a valuation approach that focuses on both stockmarket and corporate worth.

Investment performance (annualised total returns)

Growth (%)	1m	3m	12m	3y	5y	Launch
NAV	-1.0	-12.0	-7.7	5.1	6.2	13.0

Notes: 1m & 3m returns not annualised; Launch date = 10 Dec 90; FTAS = FTSE All-Share Index.

Investment commentary

UK equity markets struggled during the month, responding to prolonged Brexit uncertainty. Large companies, represented by the FTSE All-Share, generated a total return of -1.6%. Smaller size offered some respite, though the NSCI (XIC) still declined, returning -1.2%. The Fund's return was -1.0%. With the portfolio still over-weight in "smaller small" companies, the size factor benefited fund performance, but style data showed value trailing growth.

At the stock level, media company Future was the stand-out performer after announcing strong full year results. Logistics company Wincanton also reported good results and Go-Ahead rose following a reassuring trading update. Elsewhere, home credit provider International Personal Finance performed well having been weak in October. Oil exposure was detrimental to performance as the oil price fell: Nostrum Oil & Gas and EnQuest were the biggest losers in the month. Nostrum's fall was exacerbated by a cut to production guidance.

Performance was hindered by two holdings that announced deeply discounted rights issues, a poor deal structure that threatens existing shareholders with substantial dilution. As regards Restaurant Group, the frustration is compounded by the high price that the company is paying to acquire Wagamama. Aberforth's vote against the deal was insufficient to prevent its approval at the recent general meeting. Meanwhile, residential landlord Grainger is raising equity to buy out its joint venture partner. In this case the rationale for the acquisition and its valuation are sensible.

Continuation vote & share buy-ins

The continuation of the Fund is voted on by shareholders at every 3rd AGM. The next vote will occur at the AGM in March 2020.

The Fund operates a share buy-in policy. A list of the buy-in transactions during the last 5 years is available at www.aberforth.co.uk.

Data sources & calculations

All data supplied by Aberforth, except NSCI (XIC) data (from Numis/Paul Marsh and Elroy Dimson – London Business School) and FTSE data (from FTSE International Limited).

Performance returns are total returns after all expenses and assume reinvestment of dividends. Yield is based on the Fund's trailing 12 months' dividends. Active share is a measure of how the Fund's portfolio differs from the NSCI (XIC). Small companies are represented by the NSCI (XIC). Large companies are represented by the FTAS.

Risk warnings

Capital may be at risk as the value of investments may go down as well as up and is not guaranteed; therefore investors may not get back the amount originally invested. Past performance is not a guide to future performance, nor a reliable indicator of future results or performance.

Investments in shares of smaller companies are generally considered to carry a higher degree of risk as the market for their shares may be less liquid than that for shares of larger companies, making shares of smaller companies more difficult to buy and sell.

The performance of shares of smaller companies may be more volatile than the shares of larger companies over short time periods; therefore investors should regard such investments as long term.

There can be no guarantee that the investment objective of the Fund will be achieved or provide the returns sought by the Fund.

An investment in the Fund is only suitable for investors who are capable of evaluating the merits and risks of such an investment and who have sufficient resources to be able to bear any losses which may arise from such an investment (which may be equal to the whole amount invested). Such an investment should be regarded as long term in nature and complementary to existing investments in a range of other financial assets and should not form a major part of an investment portfolio.

An investment trust is a public limited company, the shares of which are traded on the main market of the London Stock Exchange. Accordingly, the ability of shareholders to sell their shares will be dependent on the market price of the shares. The shares may trade at a discount or premium to their net asset value.

Investment trusts may borrow money in order to make further investments. This is known as gearing. The effect of gearing can enhance returns to shareholders in rising markets but will have the opposite effect on returns in falling markets.
